About the ABdFC Futurity Program

Now that the Bouvier des Flandres Futurity is a reality, the owners of Brood Matrons and Stud Dogs, as well as prospective purchasers of Bouviers, will want to keep the Futurity in mind. This Stake is a breeders' classic for Bouviers, and is comparable to the Kentucky Derby for breeders of top running horses. Who wouldn't be thrilled to say, "I bred the winner of the Futurity." And, who wouldn't be delighted to be the owner of a winner in the futurity.

The word "Futurity" implies looking into the future. In the case of the American Bouvier des Flandres Club (ABdFC) it means a conscientious attempt to insure the future excellence of the Bouvier. Much time and effort has been expended in the past toward the development of the breed as we know it today. The Futurity Program is the means for the continuation of this development and improvement.

"Futurity" can also imply challenge, or a gamble on the future. The breeder has picked a certain Bitch to be bred to a certain Stud. It is the breeder's opinion that this breeding will produce offspring of the desired conformation and abilities that will win in competition over the offspring of other breedings that are enrolled in the Futurity Program. To back up their faith in their own judgment, the breeder pays monies into a fund that will be divided among the winners of the Futurity.

The Bouvier originated as a Herding Breed, for the purpose of herding cattle. Why then, should there be so much concern about good conformation? A Herding Dog needs more than just intelligence to herd cattle. They must also have the stamina and rhythm of movement, to travel easily over all types of terrain, for long periods of time, without tiring, if they are able to fulfill their role as a herding dog. Good "conformation" is therefore extremely important.

Proper Conformation for a Herding Dog is the basis for the Bouvier Standard. This Standard describes the perfect Bouvier. While we cannot hope to achieve perfection, the Standard sets a goal for which the conscientious breeder must strive. The conscientious breeder chooses, as a potential brood bitch, a female that most nearly approaches the Standard. She will, in many instances, be from proven stock and, hopefully, she will have been proven herself by competition on the Bench and in the field. When the breeder feels sure that their chosen bitch is an outstanding example of the breed, they begin to look for a suitable Stud dog that will complement the bitch. The Stud will also be from proven stock and will also have been proven. He will also have a reputation for producing high quality offspring. This should not preclude using quality type bitches and studs that have not previously produced. Many fine young Bouviers have been produced in the past from just such breedings.

The Breeder's next step, after the breeding has been accomplished, is to nominate the Bitch to the Futurity Program. When the puppies are whelped, the litter must be registered. The proper forms are available from the Futurity Director.

Because of the rules established by the ABdFC Board of Governors, there are three age groups to be judged at the Futurity. Futurity pups will vary in age from approximately 12 months old to a maximum of 24 months. Prior to the judging, the judge is provided with a set of rules that define the method of judgment. This procedure is followed so that each Futurity class winner has an equal chance to win Best Dog or Best Bitch In Futurity.

The goal of all Futurity Breeders and owners is, of course, to record a win in the Futurity. A breeder or owner can take great pride in a placement in the Futurity. It should be remembered that all of these pups are bred for excellence, and a placement in this type of competition is indeed a prestigious accomplishment. Along with the prestige involved, there are also financial rewards for winning in the Futurity. All of the fees that have been paid, minus a percentage for expenses, are divided among the winners of the Futurity and the breeders of the winners.

The rules of the Futurity permit the use of a professional in training and showing these pups. Many owners, however, choose to train and show their own pup. They are often successful. The owner/handler who will take the time to learn the fine points of training and campaigning their dog will certainly realize a great deal of personal satisfaction from the accomplishment. Both owner and puppy will benefit from the close rapport that results from the training necessary to prepare the dog to compete in the Futurity. If conditions and abilities permit, there is much to be said for the owner who campaigns their own dog.

Most of the Breeders are also knowledgeable in the training and showing of the Bouvier. They will gladly answer questions and assist in efforts to develop puppies that are the product of their breeding.

In summary, it is hoped that the Futurity Program will provide some incentive to improve the quality of the breed by appealing to the gambling instincts of those members that are proud of their accomplishments in breeding Bouviers.

Futurity Health Requirements

For Futurity nominated Bouviers to be eligible to compete in the Futurity competition beginning in the year 2001 and beyond, both parents must have certification of health clearance in at least three of the following areas, two of which must be hip status and OFA cardiac:

Hips - OFA, PennHip

- For the purposes of this program, PennHip results of less than 50% will not be acceptable, or equivalent certification from recognized Foreign Registries
- Preliminary OFA results of Good or Excellent, obtained at 18 months or older, are acceptable. If submitted for a dog or bitch over 24 months, a preliminary OFA is no longer acceptable.

Elbows – OFA

Cardiac - OFA

Eye – OFA or CERF

- Certification must be dated within 12 months of the date of the breeding that produced the Futurity nominated Bouvier or the collection of the semen used for the breeding)

Breeder must provide health certificates for the sire and the dam to the Futurity Director by July 1st of the Futurity Year. Exempt from this requirement are sires who are deceased prior to January 1, 2000.

Thyroid certification purposely was not placed on the list due to the concern that the current testing procedures cannot detect if the thyroid levels are maintained by medication. The absence of thyroid certification shall not be interpreted as tolerance for the use of thyroid deficient Bouviers in any breeding program.

This timing provides notice to and allows owners of frozen semen of currently alive sires until 12-31-99 to certify the dog if the owners desire to protect the status of the semen as useable for litters that will be eligible for the Futurity after 12-31-99; if the sire dies after 12-31-99 and has not been certified, the requirements will not be waived even if the semen was collected prior to 1-1-00.
